

Investigation and Numerical Solution of Some Nonlinear Integro-Differential Models

Temur Jangveladze

Some nonlinear integro-differential models are considered. These models are based on Maxwell system that describes diffusion process of penetration of a electromagnetic field into a substance. Asymptotic behavior of the solutions of the initial-boundary value problems and numerical solution by the difference schemes are studied.