

Aleksandre Tkeshelashvili

The space of realizations of random measures

There is a scalar product introduced for the additive random functions of sets (measures), which enables random measures to be represented as Hilbert space elements