Aleksandre Tkeshelashvili

Absolute continuity of measures generated by a random parametric nonlinear differential equations.

One tape of nonlinear differential equations with random perturbations are considered.

$$\frac{dV}{dT} + \xi(T) = P(T,V)$$

It is proved that the measures generated   by the solutions of such equations are   absolutely continuous with respect to more simple ones and the Radon-Nikodym   densities are calculated