On the asymptotic behaviour of solutions of first and second order linear ordinary Differential equation

Roman Koplatadze

Abstract

Specific types of theorems are presented for to first-order delayed argument differential equations, which are generalizations of previously known resulte. In adition,the necessary and sufficient condition for the oscillation of the solutions of the linear ordinary differential equation of the second order on a certain subsect of the set of continuous function are given.